

Information. The library or the Internet?

Every day a worldwide network called the Internet is used by more and more people. Prices providers are becoming more accessible and people are connecting to the web.

That there is not produce the people in this Internet. Who sits in social networks, who listens to music, and who is looking for the necessary information.

We already wrote an article how the Internet operates modern generation more and more. You are not afraid?

Do not ruby homework assignments think that everything is on the Internet. Here, for example, the information that I was looking for a course it would be easier to find in the library. But, people now have become lazy.

Why go to the library if you can sit at home behind your personal computer or laptop and find the necessary information in the "web".

Such words can be heard not from one person, this applies mainly to students. Why? But because they are like no others have many tasks associated with the various control, course and the like.

Now try to consider the pros and cons of the library and the Internet.

Let's start with libraries

Pros:

The funds of these institutions have a lot of information and you can find almost anything you want;

You do not sit or stick in the monitor and communicate with people and thereby develop their language and culture;

You read books or magazines and thus develop;

There is an opportunity to meet people.

Cons:

Need to go anywhere, it is better to sit at home;

We should ask the library staff where you can find information, view directories and so on;

Not the fact that You in the reading room who will interfere with the focus.

Internet

Pros:

A fairly quick search for information entered in the search engine, type the subject and You knocked out a list of sites where you can find like your request information;

Nowhere to go, got into the house that I want, I do.

Cons:

A big minus is that not always have the necessary information on the world wide web;

Some of the topics You propose to buy for the money.
