

so immediately three things pop out community service personal integrity and academic accomplishments now you have a foundation for your essay so for example you can discuss how you played an important role in a community service activity or you can talk about how you went the extra mile to succeed in a class that you typically struggle in and delve into what that stressful process actually looked like and how you overcame that obstacle do your research know their mission and leverage that information boow number two exercise your creativity and don't be afraid to share your story I've seen a lot of students regurgitate everything that is listed on the resume or activity log and the essay section is just not the place to do that the essay section gives you a beautiful opportunity to share something about who you are and to elaborate on some of the important things that you mentioned in other parts of your application point is talk about something you're proud of talk about something you admire about yourself talk about an obstacle that you've tackled tell a story by doing this not only will the essay be easier to craft but it will also add that unique touch that scholarship committees look for and most importantly remember number three spelling and grammar matter scholarship committees pick up on spelling and grammar mistakes very easily especially if they have hundreds maybe even thousands of essays to review even minor mistakes can take away from your overall message word of advice before you submit your application be sure to ask someone you trust to proofread (if u want to proofread u essay u can use the site to which students CheetahPapers.com term paper pay) your application from the very beginning to the very end the end in the comment section below I want to know have you submitted a trash application and if so which tip do you think will help you avoid that mistake next time also if you like this kind of content you should hit that subscribe button because I will definitely be uploading more content like this be sure to give this a thumbs up and until next time scholars mom [Music]